Awards

2018 – Faculty Leadership Award. “Recognizes a faculty member who significantly impacts the academic enterprise of the university through his/her leadership and service.”

2017 – Regents Professor. UNT’s highest designation for faculty.

2015 – President’s Council Service Award. UNT’s top award for contributions to university service.

2012 – Citation for Distinguished Service to International Education. UNT’s top award for contributions to international education by faculty, staff and students.

2010 – Member Phi Kappa Phi National Honor Society

2010 – Alumnus in Residence, Grand Valley State University

2009-2010. American Council on Education Fellow. The ACE Fellows Program is the leading program in the nation for developing future leaders in higher education. It is the only national program of its kind that identifies and intensively mentors a select number of individuals each year who are nominated by their home university. There are several week-long retreats, visits to multiple campuses across the United States that are part of the training, and special projects regarding financial planning and strategic marketing, diversity and learning communities. I also visited institutions of higher education in South Africa and around the United States. My host institution was Iowa State University where I focused on internationalization, diversity, strategic planning and budgeting. My mentors were President Gregory Geoffrey and Executive Vice President and Provost, Elizabeth Hoffman.

2009. UNT Honors College Eagle Feather Mentor of the Year 2009. Award given annually to a UNT faculty member for collaborating on research with Honors students.

2009. University of North Texas Leadership Fellow. Recognition and training for emerging administrative leaders at UNT.

2007. Rowan and Littlefield Award for Innovative Teaching in Political Science with Professor Kimi King (UNT) for a Study Abroad course to the International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia in The Hague, Netherlands. Award given annually to the most innovative course in political science in the United States.

2007. University of North Texas Honor Professor. Annual award voted on by the students to select the best professors on campus.
